Possibilities to get more registrations on Danish, Finnish and Swedish databases

Short term options

- The options below is something that the NAV-harmonization group thinks can be implemented within on year.

- Studies in Denmark show similar heritability between registrations made on temperament from farmers and classifiers

  - So the suggestion is to supplement farmer evaluations with classifier evaluations when there are no farmer evaluations

  - Another alternative is using the AI-technicians who are in many herds and service many animals every day

  - Both options will add additional cost to the registrations

- Investigate whether it is possible to use culling registrations where temperament was the culling reason
